

Fast Company's Top 10 Web 2.0 Apps

By Gary Woodill | February 11, 2009

Fast Company magazine's March issue is great for discovery. The main article for the month reviews the top 50 most innovative companies, followed by a series of top 10 lists of companies in advertising and marketing, architecture, clean energy, consumer electronics, design, entertainment, gaming, India, music, sports, and Web 2.0. The top 10 Web 2.0 apps are:

1. Google - dozens of applications for cloud computing
2. Facebook - a place to organize and manage the presentation of your life
3. Digg - have a voice in rating stories
4. Twitter - say something of interest in 140 characters or less
5. Meebo - instant messaging from everywhere
6. Friendfeed - aggregate your fragmented social streams into one river
7. Ning - social networks galore
8. Myspace - the other place to organize and present your life
9. Yelp - reviews on everything in major cities
10. Kayak - search over 140 travel sites for the best deals from this site

Meebo, Yelp and Katak were unfamiliar, so their inclusion here made me check them out. (GW)

Fast Company | March 2009

Topics: Web 2.0 |